Cuts to Public Health Hurt U.S. Preparedness

Public health workers are protecting communities through screening, monitoring, and data-driven communication.

But the number of public health workers has declined... at a time we need them most.

The COVID-19 pandemic is testing the limits of a system that’s already stretched, due to a chronic lack of funding and the loss of 40,000 jobs in the past decade. Learn why investing in public health matters:

VISIT WHYPUBLICHEALTHMATTERS.ORG/VIDEOS